Volunteer Spotlight: The Byrd Family

Ellie and Jolie Byrd, then 7 and 5 respectively, started piano lessons. The rest - as we say at Landmark Park - is history. Later, Jolie changed to violin with Ellie adding violin too. After they were introduced to bluegrass, they knew it was a part of them. Soon Jolie wanted to learn guitar and Ellie thought the mandolin seemed fun. The younger girls, Annie and Lucie, received fiddles for Christmas. A couple of years later, Lucie added the mandolin and Annie soon learned her heart was with the banjo. Jimmy Riley, a frequent Landmark Park musician, agreed to teach all the girls at the same time. He told them they just needed a bass player. "We wanted Daddy to learn it, but he doesn't even have rhythm!" Mama Holly gave it a try, and two weeks later, played with the girls at a church event. Rhythmless Jamie runs sound and loads and unloads the trailer and looks after the little kids during Byrd Family concerts. The little kids (Titus, Asher, and Libbie) are finding their spots among the instruments (dobro, cajon, fiddle). Everybody sings. Homeschooling helped find time for practicing. The oldest two have graduated and help the youngest two with their schoolwork.

Recently, they spent several days chinking the cabin in the Alabama Agricultural Museum's new exhibit. They learned something new by learning something old, which is what they've devoted their lives to so far with their music.

The family plays regularly at Pickin' in the Park, the second Saturday of each month. They entertained park visitors at Music by Moonlight and Fall Farm Day in 2020. They're headlining Landmark Park's first Bluegrass Festival on September 11. Come listen and tap your foot. Check out their website at www.thebyrdfamilybluegrass.com

This project will build and strengthen the local food system while providing veterans and their families the opportunity to come together for a hands-on gardening project. The program will host a series of workshops that will cover the basics of gardening as well as other topics for those who are more experienced. Let us know you are coming to the workshops by registering at www.aces.edu/go/vetsgardendothan or by calling the Houston County Extension Office at (334) 794-4108.

The garden will be open during Landmark Park's normal business hours to any veteran who wishes to come out and work in the garden when there is not a workshop. There is free entry for those working in the garden and tools are available for use. If you have not participated in a workshop with us before and would like to come out to the garden, please contact Kerry Steedley at kes0150@aces.edu for more information before going. This project was made possible through a partnership between Landmark Park, Wiregrass RC&D, Alabama Extension and our hardworking volunteers.

Register for a School Field Trip

The Education Department is excited to announce that registration for school programs for the 2020-2021 school year is now open!! We know that safety is the number one thing on everyone's mind this school year. Can't come to us and/or we can't travel to you? No problem! Landmark Park has added a virtual field trip option so we can engage your students from their own desks. Wish your students could have a hand-on learning adventure? Landmark Park and staff are also doing their part to keep our park sanitized and clean for students to still be able to experience life over a hundred years ago on our Wiregrass Farmstead, take a look at Alabama's beautiful forests and wildlife on our boardwalk, and so much more adventure to be had! For more information, check out our website www.landmarkparkdothan.com and click on the Education tab. You may also contact the Park office at 334-794-3452 or email Tabitha Shumaker at tabitha@landmarkparkdothan.com.
